

Hailed for her "dazzling artistic presence", "masterful poetic expression", "ravishing colors", and "virtuoso technique beyond reproach", Ani Gogova has been captivating audiences around the world for over two decades, most recently at Carnegie Hall, Chicago's Harris Theater, Chicago Cultural Center, and the Embassy of Bulgaria in Washington. Her performances have been selected as top recommendations by Time Out Chicago Magazine and the Chicago Tribune and broadcast on NPR, WBEZ, TEDx Talks, and WFMT Chicago. This season, after involuntary interruption in her performing schedule due to the pandemic, she performs in Canada, Austria, Italy, Bulgaria, around the US, and next year makes her debut in China. Her latest album titled "Fantasies, Fairytales, and Nightmares" was released on Blue Griffin Recording label gathering critical acclaim for her playing being "quite hypnotic", "eliciting fine nuances", "projecting a special magic" and for its "incisive accuracy" "as if she were Martha Argerich on speed." Gogova holds a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor and served as a professor at the Music Conservatory of Roosevelt University in Chicago. Currently, Gogova teaches at University of Chicago.
